

Problem 7: Deriving Denise - Solution

To implement a solution, we need to automatically differentiate the function. For this we implement a class for each function that can evaluate it and compute its derivative in terms of its inputs. (See solution code for the exact details)

Then, we evaluate this derivative at the point p and print the answer.